The FSST Executive Committee and Royal River Casino staff held the annual Tribal Dinner and Entertainment at the Royal Room on the evening of October 26th.

Tribal members were given a gift of shell bowl w/sage also a native design duffel bag. Tribal member children were given basket balls with tribal emblem. The doors opened at 5 pm with appetizers, at 5:15 the FSST Youth Drum Group, Dakota Club, drummed and sang for Tribal members and their families, spouses and guests. The drum group advisors are Dusty Beaulieu and Devin Drapeau.

Prayer/blessing by Dustin Beaulieu. Dinner was served at 6:00 pm with buffets for children and adults. The menu for the children's buffet was macaroni and cheese, chicken nuggets and corn. The adult buffet meal was baby red potatoes, fish, baked beef brisket, chicken and vegetable medley. Cheese cake for dessert.

Entertainment was by Brule Family Band at 7 pm. The Tribal members were entertained with great music, Native dancers and Native music themes.

The dancers with Brule, Danced Men’s fancy, woman’s fancy shawl, jingle dress, and Men’s traditional dancing.

Thank You! FSST Executive Committee and Royal River Casino staff for the great meal, food, entertainment and gifts.

Our first guest author is Jerilyn DeCoteau, a member of the Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa. She is on the board of the National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition. Her parents, maternal grandmother and some of her siblings attended Indian boarding schools.

Claiming our Native Heritage from the Boarding School Experiment

The heritage passed down to Native Americans is often too painful to name. Not reported in textbooks, and often not spoken of by boarding school survivors, is the chilling fact that for generations Native American children were forced to attend boarding schools far away from their homes for the purpose of destroying “all that is Indian in them.”

Children from age four were taken to nearly 500 off-reservation boarding schools. They were shorn of their hair, stripped of their Native garb, forbidden to speak their language or practice familiar customs, and denied contact with family. Many children spent all their school years in boarding schools. Many died there, never to return home. Each of these schools has a graveyard. The intended and actual result was the rending of family and community ties, the weakening of Native societies and social structure - the annihilation of much Native culture.

Silence has been a way boarding school survivors have coped. Silence is a survival tool, but it has caused untold damage. Dennis Banks, a great Indian activist, who departed this world a few days ago, left us with many lessons. One was to break the silence.

> I was taken to a boarding school when I was four years old, and taken away from my mother and my father, my grandparents ... 300 miles away from our home. And, you know, the beatings began immediately, the ... de-Indianizing program ... that was trying to destroy the culture and the person ...

> ... You know, they cut off all communication with your parents, and a lot of letters, which I found later in — I stayed there for six years without communicating to — with my parents at all ... I asked my mother, I said, ‘Why didn’t you write to me?’

> ... I lost my family relationship with my mother. I lost that feeling with my mother, because I thought she abandoned me ... And I opened up the shoebox, and those were letters, letters from my mother. And I started opening them up, and I started reading them. And in the second one, there was a letter to the superintendent of the school that said, ‘Here is $5. Please send my children — my son back home to me.’

> ... I had a chair; I was sitting right by her grave, and I started reading these letters. And I knew that she loved me then. I mean, even now, even at this moment, I feel that, man, it’s a hard — it’s a hard experience to tell people. But I tell them anyway. (2)

The evil of this genocidal experiment, and the effect of the silence around it, cannot be exaggerated. Because people are beginning to tell their stories, we are beginning to understand the inter-generational and often traumatic effects of the boarding school experiment. In many critical ways Native American heritage was destroyed in the boarding schools. In its place is often the visible manifestation of the pain from that loss: broken families, alcohol and drug addiction, mental and physical health problems, suicide. Dennis Banks’ story is typical. Unloved by his mother, alien to his Native language and culture, he was sent back home, empty-handed of tools and skills needed to take his place in his Native society. And so, well into his 70s, he sat by his mother’s grave and knew for the first time that she loved him. He fought his whole life for his heritage, for all of us, and won after all.

If the boarding school story makes it sound like many Native people are sad, damaged, broken, it is a truth we cannot hide. The effects of that trauma are evident today, long past the boarding school experiment. Native people have much to grieve and much healing to do. We can be silent no more. Our boarding school stories need to be told. They are hard to tell, but like Dennis Banks’ story, they are stories of resilience and hope. Only if we learn the truth, as Mr. Banks did, can we claim our full Native American heritage and begin to heal our families, our communities, our tribes. (3)

Notes:

1) There were about 500 federally supported boarding schools, a large number being run by churches. See National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition at http://boardingschoolhealing.org
New Staff at Ft. Meade Veterans Hospital

Cindy (Hovland) Woolston was hired at Ft. Meade Veterans Hospital, Sturgis, South Dakota as cardiac technician. Ft. Meade Veterans Hospital recently added to their medical services a new Cardiac Department. Cindy was hired and started after Labor Day.

Cindy received her training for cardiac technician at Deaconess Medical Center, Billings, Montana. She graduated and was certified in 1988. She left the medical field for a while due to her husband Evan’s transfers with Montana Dakota Utilities Company.

Cindy left the medical field and completed training in Sheridan, Wyoming to be an interpreter for the deaf. She was employed with the Sheridan, Wyoming school system. They have moved and settled at Belle Fourche, SD after Evan’s transfers to Montana, Wyoming and North Dakota. They moved to Belle Fourche in 2016 where Evan was hired as the Regional Manager for the new Northern Black Hills Region. They are delighted to live in the Black Hills.

Cindy is the daughter of Carol Robertson and Gene Hovland, Rapid City, SD. Cindy is the granddaughter of the late Howard and Catherine Robertson and the late Ed and Nancy Hovland.

Thursdays! STARTS NOVEMBER 2 to DECEMBER 21. Excludes Thanksgiving Day.
Entry Fee is $30. Must pay prior to being added to League.
No deadline when you can enter League.
First week of League is drawn on Monday October 30th for the November 2nd League Games.
Must have W.O.C.C. Membership with facility.
League is open to men and women 18 and older in age.
Teams will be Pink, Black, White, Red, Blue and Green. If we have that many teams.
Pink team plays with a Women’s Basketball. (Team matched against the Pink team will also be playing with the Women’s Basketball.)
You miss a game after it is scheduled; you are out of the league.
Re-Enter league by paying Entry Fee again.
After each game is played, a slip of paper with all your teammates’ names will be written, and you will chose a player on your team of the week that in your eyes was the best. In case of tie(s), the ones who tied will be randomly drawn for that teams’ MVP.
15 Points is T-Shirt. (These will be ordered after season so we know how many to order.)
Top 10 Ballers will get Jackets.
Top Player gets GRAND PRIZE. (Value of prize will be over $100, TBD depending on how many players we have.)
Fall League for 7 weeks. Ending December 21st.
Shirts and Teams will be drawn RANDOMLY each Friday before the League Night. (Excluding the first week, which will be announced Monday October 30th) Announcements will be posted to Facebook and the front doors of the W.O.C.C., it is the player responsibility to know game time and team. We are not responsible for player not knowing game time.
Points of each player will also be posted each Friday before League Night.
Women will be in the league, but does not have to have a woman on each team. (A team could be drawn with all women on the team if that is how it is randomly drawn.)
BYE weeks earn you 0 Points. You can VOLUNTEER to ref all games for 3 Points if on-time when you have BYE week. First 2 to volunteer get the BONUS points. If you volunteer and don’t show, you are out of the league. Re-Entry is $30.
If you know in advance before teams are drawn you will not be able to make it, let staff know prior and you can be placed on the BYE week with no consequences.
Any fighting, unnecessary roughness or aggression towards any players will be asked to leave the league and possible ejection from league; depending on the seriousness.
If this runs smooth, there will be a Winter League and possible Spring League.

Any questions or concerns, please contact Sylvia at 573-4195.

Han/Hello –

My name is Elisabetta Giomo-James. I was born and raised in Italy & moved to Flandreau, SD a decade ago after I had met my now husband, Kenton James. Kenton is Dakota of the Santee Sioux Tribe of Nebraska & Lakota of the Cheyenne River Tribe. He currently works at the Flandreau Indian School. I am fortunate to be part of his family now & connected to the culture of the Oceti Sakowin peoples.

I have been working for the Flandreau School District in the role of Title VI/Indian Education Coordinator since last school year. This position was created as a result of the efforts of the FSST Education Coordinator, Kellyn James, & the JOM/Title VI/Impact Aid Parent Committee. The goal of Title VI is to promote students’ success by providing support & advocacy to students & families when needed.

This year I continue to work closely with the Wakpa Ipaksan Dakota Language Program, the FSST Rec Department as well as the FSST Education and Social Service Programs. I am grateful for their help and support in ensuring our youth is on the right path to balance, happiness, and their own definition of success. So far, I have been doing home visits, helping students one-on-one and in small group settings academically & socially, securing resources like the free school supplies and Tom’s Shoes, and planning educational and cultural activities that students & families want to see offered at the schools to create an environment in which they feel an integral part of. We also went on couple of field trips which were so much fun and an amazing opportunity for the students that attended. We attended the Indian Education Summit in Pierre, SD in September, and the SDSU Consider the Century Conference in Brookings, SD this past October. On November 2nd, we also excited to have the Oglala Lakota band Scatter Their Own come to the high school to play for our students & staff. They inspired with their music and powerful message of encouraging everyone to discover their true cultural identity in order to learn how to best work together.

At the moment, Kellyn & I are having conversations with our students in regards to the creation of a Student Advisory Council to give them a direct voice in the process of decision making in the schools. We are also discussing what other activities and events should be held at the school. Further, we are organizing an Indian Taco Fundraiser for November 18th from 10 am until gone at the FSST Rec Center (Tribal Community Center). Proceeds will impact Title VI and JOM students directly by increasing funds for trips, incentives, and individual emergency requests. We hope to see you there as well as at our upcoming hearing held in the Elementary Commons at 5 PM on November 16th prior to Family Reading Night. Please, come to meet Elisabetta/Liz in person and/or to share any questions/concerns/ideas that the school needs to hear. We appreciate and value you!

In closing, I would like to send out a big shout out to the Royal River Casino General Manager James McDermott, Executive Assistant Jackie Ramirez, and Food & Beverage Director John Lorang for helping our program with donations to benefit the students. I also would like to thank Dustin Beaulieu, Avery Jones, Devin Drapeau, Christin Weston, Sylvia Roy, Kellyn James, & the Native American Parent Committee for all of their support in growing the Title VI program. You guys are truly awesome to work with!

If you would like to contact me directly, you can call me at 605-997-2780 and ask for Liz or you can email me at Elisabetta.james@k12.sd.us. I look forward to visiting with you!

Cold Stress

Protect yourself:

- Wear several layers of loose clothing.
- Avoid tight or restrictive clothing.
- Wear a hat.
- Wear insulated, water-proof boots.
- Protect your ears, face, and hands.
- Limit the amount of time spent in cold, wet environments.
- Move into warm, dry locations during breaks.
- Drink warm liquids.
- Carry extra socks, gloves, hats, jackets, blankets, and a change of clothes.
- Include chemical hot packs in your first aid kit.
- Do not touch cold metal surfaces with your bare skin.
Objective: To provide an overview of cold stress factors, preventive measures, symptoms, and first aid

Weather can often be unpredictable and extreme. Freezing temperatures can create serious health problems, collectively called cold stress.

Cold Stress Factors

- Freezing or near-freezing weather
- Strong winds
- Being wet
- Working for long periods in extreme cold
- Working in poorly-insulated or poorly-heated areas
- Being unaccustomed to freezing weather

Preventive Measures

- Monitor yourself and your coworkers for signs of cold stress.
- Wear appropriate clothing, such as waterproofed and insulated boots, hats, and multiple layers of loose clothing. Particularly protect all extremities.
- Always carry cold weather gear, such as extra socks, gloves, hats, jackets, blankets, water, food, and a thermos of hot liquid.
- Carry a change of clothes and use them if clothes get wet.
- Limit the amount of time spent in cold, wet environments. Move into warm, dry locations during breaks.
- Do not touch cold metal surfaces with bare skin.

Cold Stress Conditions

Hypothermia:

- Description: A medical emergency in which the body cannot warm itself
- Causes: Lengthy exposure to freezing weather
- Symptoms: Shivering at the onset or not later, fatigue, confusion, disorientation, blue skin, dilated pupils, slowed pulse and breathing, or loss of consciousness
- First aid: Remove wet clothes, keep the victim warm and dry with blankets, and give the victim warm drinks (if conscious). Monitor consciousness, and get medical help.

Frostbite:

- Description: Damage to body tissue, mostly in the extremities
- Causes: Lengthy exposure to freezing weather
- Symptoms: Skin that is aching, tingling, stinging, bluish, pale, or waxy
- First aid: Immerse the skin in warm but not hot water or, if that is not possible, warm very gently with body heat, without rubbing or pressure. Get medical help.

Trench foot:

- Description: Dying skin because the body has cut off circulation to the feet
- Causes: Lengthy exposure of feet to wet conditions (with temperatures up to 60°F)
- Symptoms: Leg cramps or redness, numbness, swelling, bruising, blisters, ulcers, or gangrene on feet
- First aid: Dry feet and do not walk on them. Seek medical help.

Chilblains:

- Description: Damage to capillary beds in the skin
- Causes: Repeated, prolonged exposure to temperatures between freezing and 60°F
- Symptoms: Redness, inflammation, itching, blistering, ulceration
- First aid: Slowly warm the skin, do not scratch, use an anti-itch cream, and cover blisters and ulcers.
